

Checking your Organisation's Domain details

Nominet is the registry for all domains ending .uk and so if you want to check your .org.uk or other .uk domain – go to www.nominet.org.uk

Use the WHOIS box as shown below to look up details for your domain (remembering not to type in the www. prefix).

You are then presented with a range of useful information including details of the official Registrant, the domain renewal date and the Internet Service Provider that the domain was registered via.

If you are unsure of the status of your domain – it is definitely worth checking.

We have recently come across a number of organisations who either have discovered they were not the registered owner of their domain – in one case the company who developed their website was listed as the owner and they have since ceased to trade so are uncontactable, or that their domain renewal had lapsed and that was the reason that their website was no longer online.

If you do find out that you need to change your details, the Nominet website gives you full instructions as to the steps you need to take.

If your domain isn't a .uk domain, try looking up details on www.domaintools.com